Committee for Managing Gender Issues (CMGI)

FOREWORD

On behalf of Indian Institute of Management Ahmedabad (IIMA), I am very pleased to share “Committee for Managing Gender Issues Policy against Sexual Harassment at IIMA” (“CMGI Policy”) with you. IIMA is committed to creating a safe and conducive environment that enables all to work/study without fear of Sexual Harassment. IIMA believes in equal opportunities and safe environment for all, irrespective of race, caste, religion, colour, marital status, sexual orientation, age, nationality, ethnic origin, disability or gender.

Equality in education and employment can be seriously impaired when a woman is subjected to discrimination by way of Sexual Harassment at workplace. Sexual Harassment infringes two fundamental rights guaranteed by the Constitution of India: (i) the right of equality under Article 14 and (ii) woman’s right to life and to live with dignity under Article 21. Sexual Harassment also results in a violation of the victim's fundamental right under Article 19 (1) (g) to practice any profession or to carry out any occupation, trade or business as it depends on safe working environment where a woman can work safely with all her dignity. The fundamental human rights to protection against Sexual Harassment and the right to work with dignity are universally recognized by international conventions and instruments such as Convention on the Elimination of all Forms of Discrimination against Women, which has been ratified on the 25th June, 1993 by the Government of India. In 1997, the Supreme Court of India recognized the above fundamental rights in a landmark judgement {Vishaka vs. State of Rajasthan and others (AIR, 1997 SC 3011)} and provided guidelines that employers must follow to ensure that complaints of Sexual Harassment at workplace can be redressed. In 2013, the Indian Parliament enacted the Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Act (“the Act”) and Rules, 2013 on lines similar to the guidelines laid down by the Supreme Court in the Vishaka judgment. Further, the University Grants Commission (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal of Sexual Harassment of Women Employees and Students in Higher Educational Institutions) Regulations, 2015 & the All India Council for Technical Education (Gender Sensitization, Prevention and Prohibition of Sexual Harassment of Women Employees and Students and Redressal of Grievances in Technical Institutions) Regulations, 2016 and Gazette notification of MHRD dated 2nd May, 2016 requires technical and higher educational institutions to set up grievance redressal mechanism and adopt other measures for prevention and prohibition of Sexual Harassment of women employees and students.

IIMA has ‘zero-tolerance policy’ against Sexual Harassment. In accordance with all applicable laws and guidelines, including but not limited to the Act, the Policy not only provides for a mechanism and time bound process for redressing complaints of Sexual Harassment but also states steps to prevent such incidents from happening.

At IIMA, we recognize that gender other than women may also be subject to sexual harassment. We also recognize that sexual harassment is particularly problematic for vulnerable groups. They may be more like to be subjected to sexual harassment and may also find it more difficult to complain. Vulnerability can be socially compounded by region, class, caste, sexual orientation, minority identity or/and by being differently abled. The CMGI is especially sensitive to such vulnerabilities and special needs. Additionally, our policy is applicable to genders other than women as stated in Section 6.

As a Chairperson of the CMGI (Internal Committee) of IIMA, I wish to state that if you have any concerns / complaints, please feel free to reach out to us and CMGI shall resolve your queries / complaints in fair and confidential manner. I am sure that this Policy will be helpful for all of you and would enable you to reach out to the Internal Committee members, whenever required.

Chairperson, CMGI
